EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO PHILEMON.

1 PAUL, a prisoner for Christ Jesus, and the brother Timothy, to our friend and fellow-worker Philemon, and to the dear Apphia, and to our fellow-soldier Archippus, and to the congregation in your house: Blessing and peace to you from our Father God, and Lord Jesus Christ.

4 When I give thanks to my God, I always make mention of you in my prayers; for I hear of your love, and the faith which you have to the Lord Jesus and to all the holy, so that your energetic unity in the Faith may advance into acognition of every benefit there is for us in Christ. For I had pleasure and consolation from your friendship; and, brother, the feelings of the holy are comforted by you.

8 Although I might have complete freedom in Christ to demand an unusual thing of you, I would rather beg it for love—I am your old Paul, now also a prisoner for Christ Jesus.

I beg of you for my son Onesimus, whom I have begotten in my captivity— he who was once useless to you, but now useful both to you and me—whom I have sent back. And now receive him, for he is my darling; whom I would like to have retained with me, so that instead of you, he might serve me in the bondage of the gospel. But without your consent I wished to do nothing; so that your benevolence might not be from necessity, but out of free will. Perhaps, for this reason indeed, he was removed from you for a short time, so that you might have him back for ever; no longer as a slave, but more than a slave, a dear brother—especially so to me—but how much more to you, both in body and in the Lord! If, therefore, you have any sympathy with me, receive him as myself.

But if he has wronged or owes you anything, charge that to me. I, Paul, 19 have written with my own hand, I will repay it. Yet I need not tell you that you also owe your own self to me. 20 No, brother, make me happy in the Lord spontaneously; comfort my feelings in Christ. 21 I have written to you, confident of your acquiescence: for I know that you will do more than I ask. And therefore, also, prepare me a lodging; for I hope by your prayers to be welcomed by you.

Epaphras, my fellow-soldier in Christ Jesus, and my fellow-workers, Mark, Aristarchus, Demas, and Luke, send regards to you. The blessing of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit.

THE EPISTLE OF ST. PAUL TO THE HEBREWS.

The Pre-eminent Majesty and Honour of the Lord Jesus Christ by Reason of His Atoneement.

1 GOD, having of old spoken to our forefathers in many portions and many forms, by the prophets, at last in these times has spoken to us by a Son: Whom He appointed Inheritor of all; and through Whom He made the ages; Who—being the effulgence of His grandeur, and the representative of His essence, supporting all things by His powerful Decree—having made a purification from sins, seated Himself in right of the Majesty on high; thus becoming by so much superior to the Messengers, inasmuch as He inherited a more distinguished Power than they. For when did He ever say to any of the Messengers—

You are My Son, To-day I have begotten You? And again, I will be a Father to Him, And He shall be a Son to Me.

But respecting the Son:

GREAT PRINCE, YOUR THRONE IS FOR EVER AND EVER;
AND THE SCEPTRE OF JUSTICE IS THE SCEPTRE OF YOUR KINGDOM.
YOU HAVE LOVED RIGHTEOUSNESS, AND HATED LAWLESSNESS;

Therefore God, your God, has anointed you With a delightful oil above Your associates.1

And, You, Lord, have founded the earth of old, And the skies are the work of Your hands; They shall be destroyed, but You will remain; And all shall grow old as a garment, And You shall fold them as a cloak, And they shall be changed; But You are the same, And Your years will not be eclipsed.2

And when did He say to any of the
